Hong Kong, October 29-30

OCTOBER 16, 2018 – Technology to make faster, better decisions about allocating to alternative investments will be showcased at FinovateAsia 2018 in Hong Kong, October 29-30.

AlphaBot – an efficient technology solution to the cumbersome process of sourcing, analyzing and allocating to alternative investments – is one of a select group approved to demonstrate its first-of-its-kind solution at FinovateAsia. The conference focuses on innovative start-ups and established companies in financial technology.

Launched in 2018, AlphaBot helps allocators -- including high net worth individuals, family offices, and institutions -- find and connect with investment platforms, hedge funds, data sources, and other providers. Using AlphaBot, allocators can obtain fund performance and benchmarking data, then model, build and execute portfolios all from a consistent, user-friendly interface.

“Asia is a fast-growing market for AlphaBot as sophisticated allocators turn to today’s most advanced tools to help them make better, better informed portfolio decisions,” said Dmitri Alexeev, Ph.D., AlphaBot Chief Executive Officer. “We are excited to be featured at FinovateAsia 2018 and to meet with leading firms in the alternative asset space across Asia while we are there.”

Reflecting AlphaBot’s growth this launch year, the company recently announced:
