

ALPHABOT ADDS MORNINGSTAR, BARCLAYHEDGE DATA

CHICAGO, MAY 21, 2018 – AlphaBot -- a simple technology solution to the cumbersome process of sourcing, analyzing and allocating to alternative investments – today announced that data from BarclayHedge and Morningstar are now available on the AlphaBot platform.

Free, one-click access to more than 30 BarclayHedge proprietary hedge fund and Commodity Trading Advisor (CTA) benchmarks and 2,300-plus Morningstar international equity market indexes is now publicly available on AlphaBot. In addition, AlphaBot users can instantly access monthly performance data including detailed strategy descriptions, fund holdings and investment details for over 7,500 hedge funds and CTAs tracked by BarclayHedge (with paid subscription to BarclayHedge data). Clients already having a subscription to BH data can have it enabled in AlphaBot at no additional cost.

“BarclayHedge and Morningstar are two of the most trusted names in fund data and research, and AlphaBot is thrilled to offer access to this data to help investors analyze and construct allocation strategies,” said Dmitri Alexeev, AlphaBot Chief Executive Officer. “AlphaBot streamlines a previously multi-step process, allowing allocators to work with premier data sources on a single platform to select the most impactful investment strategies.”

AlphaBot, part of AlphaTech Investment Solutions, LLC., combines portfolio construction and execution, professional networking, cloud computing, and data management all in one place. AlphaBot helps allocators -- including high net worth individuals, family offices and institutions -- find and connect with investment platforms, hedge funds, data sources and other providers. Using AlphaBot, allocators can obtain fund performance and benchmarking data, then model, build and execute portfolios all from a consistent, user-friendly interface.
